

The Bullet Observes Thirtieth Anniversary; Mary Washington Celebrates 1908 Founding

Program Honors Goolrick, MWC Founding Father

Former Senator C. O'Connor Goolrick, a founding father of Mary Washington, is shown in the library of his home in Fredericksburg.

Although he has done much to further educational opportunities in "Old Dominion", former State Senator C. O'Connor Goolrick is quick to say that he is "only a lawyer", and will thus leave ideas about education to professors.

He has been perhaps the most influential person in the founding and development of MWC. It was Senator Goolrick who proposed the original bill in 1908 to establish a state normal school in Fredericksburg. It was Senator Goolrick who convinced others that "the hill" would be a better location for the school than the site where the hospital has since been erected. . . . "You're not building a college for the next ten or fifteen years, you're building it to be here perpetual." And, it was Senator Goolrick who was on the commission which made Mary Washington the Women's College of the University of Virginia. . . . "I'd always wanted to see a University for women, but I didn't want to see it at Charlottesville." (Senator Goolrick studied law at the University and still feels with thousands of other University men, past and present, that Mr. Jefferson's institution is for "men only.")

Background

Born in Fredericksburg in 1876, Senator Goolrick attended the Virginia Military Institute and the University of Virginia. He was admitted to the Bar in 1905 and has practiced law here since that time. He was a member of the Virginia House of Representatives in 1908 and a member of the State Senate from 1916 to 1922. In 1933, he served as President of the Virginia Constitutional Convention (which repealed the 18th Amendment, he pointed out to us!) and he has served as member of the Board of Visitors of the University of Virginia. Most recently, he was a member of the board which elected Dr. Simpson as Chancellor of Mary Washington.

Although he does not pretend to know anything about educational trends and philosophies, Senator C. O'Connor Goolrick stated definitely that he feels that women should have equal education with men as far as possible. Perhaps it was this feeling which prompted his actions for the establishment and development of Mary Washington College.

Anniversary Issue

As the final issue of 1957-58 staff, this BULLET also marks the 30th anniversary of the college newspaper. In this publication are articles reprinted from issues from the past years which have particular bearing on Mary Washington today.

Campus Events Listed for Week

Dean's List Announced
Dean Edward Alvey has announced that three hundred and twenty students have made Dean's List for the first semester 1957-58. In order to qualify for this distinction, a 2. grade average is necessary.

Thirteen students made a straight A average for the past semester.

Dance Plans Complete
The annual Emerald Ball will be held in the Gothic Room on Saturday, March 15. Les Elgart and his Orchestra will be featured. Tickets are on sale in the C-Shoppe for $6.50, which includes dinner and breakfast.

Terrapin Presents Show

The Terrapin Club will present their annual aquacade three consecutive nights, beginning March 20th. The student body is invited to attend the water show, "La Mer", which will feature members of the Terrapin Club. Dottie Reed, president of the Junior Class, will narrate, and the club is sponsored by Miss Margery Arnold.

Players Offer Comedy

Tickets are being sold for the MWC Players production of The World We Live In, an insect comedy by Karel and Josef Capek, on March 21 and 22 in Dupont Little Theater.

Club Schedules Oriental Exhibit

The Oriental Club of Mary Washington College is sponsoring an exhibit entitled "Oriental Art Through Fifty Centuries" between Sunday, March 16th, and Sunday, March 30th in two of the exhibition rooms of duPont.

The exhibit will be open between 10 and 12 every morning and 2 and 6 in the afternoon, including Sundays.

More than fifty priceless pieces of Oriental art were loaned to the Club by Ambassadors of Asian countries, art dealers, collectors and private persons in Fredericksburg and vicinity.

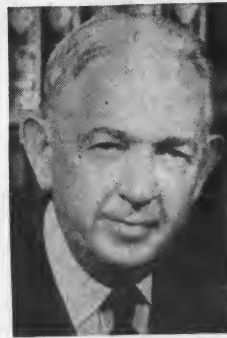

Local schools and other groups will be invited to visit this unusual exhibit as it contains pieces never before exhibited in America. Special arrangements will be made for visiting classes from the public schools and church groups who may wish to study comparative religion and the background of Oriental Club and there will be informal talks to the various groups.

It is planned to have visitors who will share their knowledge of Oriental art and civilization with the students during the period of the exhibit. Further announcements will be made soon.

First Lady of Virginia Makes College Address

Mrs. J. L. Almond

Governor J. L. Almond, Jr.

A Founder's Day program in George Washington Hall on Friday, March 14, marked the fiftieth anniversary of Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia.

The program marking the anniversary featured an Address of Welcome by Chancellor Grellet C. Simpson, Greetings from the Commonwealth of Virginia by the Honorable J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., Governor of Virginia, a tribute to former Senator C. O'Connor Goolrick, father of the bill establishing Mary Washington College as a branch of the University, by Colgate W. Darden, Jr., president of the University of Virginia, and an Address by Mrs. J. Lindsay Almond, Jr. First Lady of Virginia.

Pittsburgh Orchestra

On Friday evening the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of William Steinberg, presents a concert in George Washington Auditorium. The concert begins at 8:15 p.m.

Emerald Ball

On March 15, from 8 p.m. to midnight, the annual Emerald Ball for students and guests will be held in the Gothic Room of Ann Carter Lee. The Les and Larry Elgart Band, featuring Don Forbes, will furnish the music for the occasion. Dinner will be served in Seacabec before the dance and there will be a breakfast immediately following the formal.

On Sunday, March 16, a duo piano concert will be presented in the Little Theater, DuPont Hall, at 4 p.m. by Mrs. Anne F. Hamer and Mrs. Jean Slater Edson.

Academic Procession

The Founder's Day academic procession, following the organ prelude by Mrs. Edson, a member of the music faculty, was composed of the Marshals—Dr. James H. Croushore, faculty chairman of academic procession, Carol Pridgen, president-elect of the Student Government Association, Ruth McCulloch, president of the Honor Council, the seniors, faculty, administration and official party, which consisted of Governor and Mrs. Almond, Jr., President Darden, C. O'Connor Goolrick, Chancellor Simpson, Reverend Thomas J. Faulkner, Jr., president of the Fredericksburg Ministerial Association, Mrs. Peter D. Copes, president of the Alumnae Association and Evelyn Breden, president of the Student Government Association.

Staff Holds Banquet Guy Friddell Speaks

At the 30th Anniversary Banquet of the BULLET held on Tuesday night, March 11, appointments to the BULLET editorial staff for 1958-1959 were announced. Sally Marriott of Warrenton and Charlotte Wohlrich of Belleville, N. J. will be co-associate editors; Joyce Fooks of Pungoteague will be pickup editor, and Audrey Manke from Bloomfield, Conn. and Patay Peterson of Manhasset, N. Y. will serve as co-business managers. Appointment of Margot guest as 1958-59 Editor-in-Chief was previously announced.

Also announced were the following: news editor, Vicky Biggers of Elgin, Illinois; feature editor, Allen Woods of Arlington; copy editor, Joanne Meehan of Woodstock, Md.; cartoonist, Ann Hopkins, of Cincinnati, Ohio; assistant makeup editor, Sue Baumann, Greenville, South Carolina; assistant news editor, Marge Kirksey, Eutaw, Alabama; assistant feature editor, Nancy Wright, Damascus; assistant copy editors, Judy Evans of Sproul Estates, Pa., and Matt McCeney of Richmond; circulation managers, Cecilia Bergin of Alexandria, and Mary Fredman of Dunn Loring.

Guest speaker at the banquet was Mr. Guy Friddell, political writer for the Richmond News Leader. Mr. Friddell graduated from the University of Richmond and earned his masters degree in Journalism from Columbia University. He covered both political conventions in 1952 and 1956. He won first prize in 1957 from the Virginia Press Association for news-writing, and he has worked on the News-Leader for seven years.

Ad Astra Per Aspera

It is altogether appropriate that The Bullet should mark its thirtieth anniversary during the same week that Mary Washington celebrates its fiftieth anniversary. Even as the college has grown from the tiny State Teachers College of 1908, the school newspaper has risen from the remains of a literary magazine which prospered during the '20's, and has become today a respected organ of campus opinion.

The growth and development of the institution has been shown by the publication; that growth has allowed the newspaper to expand with it. The cooperation and coordination which exists between the two today; the harmony and freedom of an unfettered campus publication, has only been achieved by the steady forward-looking policy which the administration and student government association have inspired.

Although this issue looks back into the past and reviews the progress which has been made during the history of the Bullet's operation, the main thought in our mind continues to be the future, both of the college and the newspaper. Both have been climbing high, pointing toward new accomplishments, and achieving new aims; we hope that progress may continue, and that the next anniversary of MWC and The Bullet will mark new and greater achievements.

College ... Almost As Usual

December 2, 1943

There is still the red glow of sunset over the distant mountains and the pinkish grey of dawn. There is the senior procession at "convo," still dignified and inspiring. The buildings, the chimes, the echo of taps at night—all these are the same. And there are still the stars.

But despite the sameness in outward appearance there are changes, important changes. Four-year courses are speeded up to three. There are classes in first aid, and air raid drills have ceased to be a novelty. Students knit sweaters for the Red Cross. Classes compete in buying War Savings Stamps. We study government and conversational Spanish with equal vigor and spend much time at the atlas in the library trying to locate Tunis and Delhi and some place called Carovilli.

We still meet our man in the Virginia parlors but now we admire his uniform instead of his tweed jacket. There are wings and insignia on every lapel and a wedding ring on the girl next door. There are still the letters—from a brother at Fort Benning, a cousin at Pensacola, and someone else at Maxwell Field. There is the excitement of overseas calls and cables. There is an occasional terse telegram—"missing in action" ...

We listen to news broadcasts rather than worn-out swing tunes and our late-into-the-night talks center on faraway battles and the advisability of war marriages and the relative merits of the WACS and WAVES.

We have become aware of another world—a bigger, broader, more disturbing world—outside the confines of the campus.

1941 Crystal Gazer Saw Future MW ... Not Quite!

February 14, 1941 — I came back for a visit to my Alma Mater February 25, 1953. When I arrived at the train station I was met by a taxi driver, who said, "If you are going to Mary Washington College, I will take you for 5 cents." "Special rates to Mary Washington College only." He then proceeded to take my bags and put them in the car. As we rolled on up the hill, the first thing that I noticed was that the gates opened by an electric eye. My attention was also attracted by the automatically moving sidewalks up the hill. I sighed for the days when I laboriously pulled the hill from "Franks" with ice cream in one hand and hot dog in the other.

I went into Mrs. Bushnell's living room; she greeted me warmly and we had a long talk. I didn't think taking up her time when she told me that since there weren't as many rules as there had been in the past, she led a very idle life, her chief duties being to entertain visitors and give talks on current events. Mrs. Bushnell instructed a girl to take me on a tour of the college so that I could note all the improvements. The first thing I did was to look over Virginia Hall. The rooms had been remodeled. Every room had maple furniture and a private bath and there was a spacious new parlor and a luxurious reception room. Fanny Willard was my next visit. The front of Willard had been converted into a large parlor. The rooms were also remodeled, complete with maple furniture. I longed to see one iron bed. It just didn't seem like home. The thing which most amazed me was the quietness of the building. All the Freshmen moved around with lady-like quietness and ease. The new infirmary back of Willard was as complete as any modern hospital. Dr. Scott and Miss Tribble were sitting in the reception room reading magazines. They explained that though the infirmary was full, the girls weren't sick, they were merely taking the two days rest which was required of every girl every two weeks. There was a radio in every room, and an ample supply of magazines. Chandler, Mary Ball, and Monroe still remained very much the same with the exception of the water fountains in Monroe. This I was glad to see. It made me feel a little more at home. As I walked by Dr. Combs' office in Washington Hall, I was greeted by the President himself, lounging in the doorway. I stopped and had a long conversation with him. He explained that I shouldn't worry about his time anymore; the affairs of the college ran so smoothly that he didn't have many problems of administration any more. The dining hall was no longer a dining hall but a cafe on a large scale. Menus were on all the tables, and the student could order what she pleased. That night I was given a guest room in Pocahontas Hall, the new dormitory. The girls around all looked beautifully groomed and I asked one of the girls how they had time to keep their appearance up so well. She explained to me that the new beauty shop gave them hair sets, facials and manicures once a week, free of charge, and that a maid cleaned up their rooms every morning.

As I drifted off to sleep on my Beauty rest mattress, I could hear voices on the campus at 11 o'clock. It seemed that dates could now remain till 11:30 on week day nights and 12 on week-ends. I closed my eyes to dream of the old days on the "hill" when Willard was Willard, Mrs. Bushnell and Dr. Combs were always busy and life moved in a steady stream of hours, each filled with tasks to be done or crowded with merry making for a while. They were, indeed, the "good old days" of Mary Washington College.

KOLLUM

September 30, 1952 — Rules, rules,—words more words, O but have you heard that the fair maidens of this college may actually stroll on campus with a member of the male species after dark? Queen Victoria would have turned over in her grave at the very thought. Mary Washington girls, however, have really pulled out of this Victorian age to a considerable degree this year. You might say that we have advanced half a century since that time. Just think, we'll be up to date about the year 2500. All kidding aside, it really was a sight to behold, this past week-end. The new privilege was in full swing, and the walks around and near Ball Circle resembled a recently-arrived battalion. I must say that the tactics were a far cry from anything along the military line. Pat will have to succumb to directing traffic instead of playing watchman. This promenading really is quite a change from the timed walks from the parlor to the C Shoppe and possibly a walk to the Dean's office for becoming sidetracked. Automobile rides, too, have finally come into being at M.W.C. It has taken us a while to get used to Mr. Ford's new mode of transportation, but in this year 1952 the replacement of the horse and buggy has finally come to serve as a shoe sole savor on walks into town for movie dates. Happy journeys to you all and remember, Fredericksburg gas stations are closed after sundown!

Bullet Climbs From Literary Quarterly

The newsworthy publication which presently hits the newstand on Friday afternoons started life in 1921 as a sedate literary quarterly. The Bullet, as it was known even in the earliest days of the State Teachers College, did not become a newspaper until 1928; until that time its format resembled the Epaulet of today.

Although the first issue of the Bullet is not extant, ones published early in 1929 show many features, few pictures, jokes (old ones even then), and personalized comments on students. During the thirties, the Bullet recorded proms, chain celebrations, additions to the faculty and new building construction. By 1936 the paper was going in full swing, and at times was even a weekly.

When the war hit the Mary Washington campus, it had a profound effect both on student life and the newspaper. The paper was published under new restrictions, and even had to be mimeographed at times. From October 16, 1942 till November 7 a severe flood necessitated the eager journalists to write and print their own paper. They chronicled candlelight in the dorms and dining hall, lack of electricity and water, but they bravely went on with the news.

The "flag"—the word Bullet on the top of the page, has had numerous style changes over the years; with the "new look" of 1947, however, came the masthead as we know it today. The paper has grown from a six or eight page reprint sheet in the early forties to the present highly pictorial, newsy biweekly of today.

Greetings

On the occasion of the thirtieth anniversary of THE BULLET, the Student Government Association of Mary Washington offers congratulations to the college newspaper for the job it has done this year and in the past in serving the campus community.

M.W.C. Girls Man Spotter Station

Friday, April 24, 1942

Their eyes are on the air and it's planes they are looking for! Sure enough, the plane-spotting has started off with an enthusiastic group of girls scanning the sky with anxious eye—"I wonder if I really hear a plane or is that a train!"

It's the night watch and early morning watch that's the most exciting but so far most uneventful. One sticks one's head out into the cold night air (40 degrees) every five minutes to listen for a plane. Instead, a neighboring cow is complaining to the moon, the laundry exhaust is blowing off or a freight train is rumbling by. (We didn't know noises could be so deceiving!) There is nothing but the stillness of the night and no one but one's sleepy companion. The main question is—how does one get out to the observation post at 12:00 a.m. (or 2:00 a.m. or 4:00 a.m.)? Down in Willard basement there are six beds, all made up and ready for use. The eight girls who are on the night shifts come in at 10:00 p.m. and sleep with a trusty alarm clock to wake them at the right time. It's quite a new experience for most of the girls on the post and an excellent way to cooperate in the national defense program.

Janitor Discovers Mysterious Body In G. W. Hall

October 25, 1948

The dead body of an unidentified man, believed to be an Italian, was found by the janitor in a dressing room of George Washington Hall, early on the morning of Oct. 19. The city coroner stated that the man had been shot through the heart late the night before.

The police have, so far, uncovered no clues to the murderer's identity or motives, but following the announcement of the mysterious circumstances surrounding the man's death. Sir Charles Jasper, noted authority on the occult in America and author of The George Washington Theatre Legend.

These patriotic lassies are candidly posing in front of Ball dormitory during a War Bond drive which was held in the spring of 1943.

end wired that perhaps he could be of some aid.

The dead man is described as being of medium height with dark hair and swarthy complexion, of slight but wiry build. The fact that there was no sign of struggle led investigators to believe that the assassin was a companion of, or at least an acquaintance of the murdered man.

Seniors Suggest Special Privileges

February 12, 1943

Four years ago, the present Seniors asked their Freshman training teachers, "What privileges will we have when we become Seniors?" The usually well-poised teacher coughed, then stammered, "Well, uh... you get more nights per month in town in groups of three instead of four... you don't have to go to breakfast unless you want to... oh!... you may go car-riding in the daytime in the afternoons... ten mile radius... approved chaperone, etc., etc..."

To the Freshman (member of the class of '43) this answer seemed little reward for four years labor, but the time when she would be a Senior seemed quite remote, so she accepted the situation.

Now, however, take a second look at the "privileges." True, we may walk to town four times a month if we have the price of admission to the Pitts' Victoria. The second privilege has completely evaporated. Now NO ONE has to go to breakfast and if the poor Senior wanted to go, she would have to arise before seven, grope her way to the dining hall in the dark, then push through a waiting line of lower classmen before obtaining nourishment.

Thirdly, the car-riding privilege! Need I say more?

We do not object to the revocation of these privileges. We realize that the measures taken have been inevitable. BUT — why have not substitute privileges been given us? It surely is not because the student body is unwilling that we be given privileges. Ask any lower classman and she will agree that Seniors should be so honored.

We don't want more nights in town; we don't want to make lower classmen go to breakfast; nor do we want to use the nation's gas supply in car-riding. But we would like to suggest a few substitute privileges:

1. to take dates to the movies on Saturday afternoon
2. to keep our lights on until 12:00 on Saturday night
3. not a system of hazing, but a more definite understanding of the relationship between Freshmen and Seniors.

Increased Senior privileges would not result in undermining the Student Body morale, but would increase respect for those students who have been here longer, and would make the underclassmen have something to look forward to—the joy and privilege of being a Senior!

Howard Johnson's Opens For Business This Week

Tuesday, October 23, 1951

The new Howard Johnson's, located on the north side of the Jefferson Davis Highway opposite College Avenue, will be opened this week.

Students who wish to have dinner at Howard Johnson will use one of their nights in town or return to campus by 6 P.M.

Mr. James Bryan, manager of the new restaurant, is looking forward to visits from the students of Mary Washington; a traffic light will probably be placed at the highway intersection to insure safety.

Three photographs of campus scenes, in color, will be hung in the dining room. These framed murals are 30" by 36" and were executed by Frank Dementi of Colonial Studio in Richmond, E. Lee Trinkle Library, Brompton and a campus fountain scene were selected by the architect as subject material.

Marye Girls House Hunt As New Dorm Ousts Old

March 17, 1953

As of last Monday, the Maryetes have been "just a-looking for a home." A new dorm is to be built between Marye and Brent and Marye is soon to be picked up bodily and moved toward the library to make room for the building.

Preparation for construction has already begun, to which face the inmates of the vicinity of Westmoreland, Franar, and Brent can well testify. Late sleepers are awakened in the morning by a sound similar to that of a dentist's drill. This does not make for blissful dreams!

For quite a while, workmen have been uprooting trees and in general have been disturbing the peace of the woodland between Marye and Brent. The frontier is fast disappearing, so all pioneer spirits despair! The one distinct advantage of building up this woody area, however, is that it discourages campus cutting. No matter how brave the soul and no matter how late we may be to class, the risk of being ground up by a bulldozer or of falling into a bottomless pit, will keep her from this nefarious practice. But where are the Marye girls now? One is in Virginia, the House mother has been deported downtown, some are living in Betty Lewis, and some, heaven forbid, are on the top floor of the infirmary.

The infirmary accommodations are doubtless quite cheerful and convenient; in fact the girls are amused by their situation.

There is one sad note in this little drama—the case of the unwanted goldfish. The exact size and number of these poor evicted fish remains a mystery, but their mistress, who now lives in Betty Lewis, was, for some unknown reason, not permitted to keep them. The fish were shipped to the infirmary where they are languishing. This is the cue for the "anti-discrimination against goldfish" society to take the floor.

Isolation Becomes Personal Problem

December 5, 1941

The term, "isolationist" is heard often these days, but how many of us realize that it has a far broader meaning than one who opposes the entrance of the United States into war? We are isolationists. Well-fed, well-housed, well-clothed, we seldom hoist ourselves from our own little puddle to take a keen, searching glance at conditions which prevail outside our own community. Beyond a cursory glance at the morning paper on our way to the 8:30, and perhaps at the evening prayer, we wrap ourselves in the warm, snug blanket of our own well-being and continue to occupy ourselves with our own affairs.

One thing which we all want from a college education is growth. One symptom of growth is the ability to see beyond our personal horizons into the current circumstances of others with whom we do not come in daily contact. It is a significant addition to your personality when you begin to put a sensitive ear to the ground and listen to the echoes which are reflected from all the human misery and want and need in the world today.

Merger Bill Signed By Va. Governor

February 28, 1944.

The House bill to convert this college into a liberal arts college, as a unit of the University of Virginia, was signed by Governor Darden on Tuesday of last week.

This bill which was passed by the Senate on February 12, calls for the merging of this college with the university at Charlottesville.

This plan was proposed last year by Governor Darden and included the proposal to consolidate the college at Radford with V.P.I. That bill has also passed the Senate and is awaiting the Governor's signature.

A similar plan for merging Mary Washington and the University of Virginia was approved by the 1932 General Assembly. However Governor John G. Pollard put his veto on it because there were certain amendments needed.

The merging of the above-mentioned colleges will lead toward the strengthening the state's educational facilities for advanced students.

Evolution From STC to MWC Recorded

Student Hope High For Rule Change; SG Hears Opinions

CAMPUS VIEW shows Mary Washington in the early 1930's. Notice the absence of Westmoreland, George Washington, and the two wings of Seacobeck. These were the days of Daisy Chains and the C Shoppe in Chandler.

On September 28, 1911, the Fredericksburg Free Lance Star announced that the Fredericksburg Normal and Industrial School had opened its doors on "Normal Hill," that it was filled to capacity (125) with many turned away. In the first list of students none were out-of-state. At that time, the required age limit was 15 and tuition fees were $15 per semester. Courses were offered in general education, primary education, home economics, rural arts, shop and rawing, mathematics and science, Latin and social science, history, English, modern languages, music, physical education, and biology. The "how" to teach, however was considered as important as knowledge of subject matter. Besides preparing the student for a life work in teaching, the normal school aimed at offering a liberal education through practice teaching under supervision and training for general technical knowledge in subject-matter fields. Students were to be taught so that their learning could be passed on to others.

New Head

In 1919 the first change in president occurred. Mr. Russell resigned and Dr. Algernon B. Chandler took his place, occupying the President's chair from 1919 to 1928.

By 1920 the old "normal school" idea had outgrown itself. Pressures began building up for converting normal schools to teachers colleges. In 1924 the General Assembly finally altered the name of this institution to the Fredericksburg State Teacher College. By 1924 the

March 18, 1947—Morale at Mary Washington College hit a new high Monday night, March 17, when Student Government laid open, for full student-body discussion and vote, six major sources of dissatisfaction. The meeting, which was completely voluntary, was conducted by Neile Davies, president of the student-body, in George Washington auditorium.

The purpose of the meeting was to gain closer cooperation between SG and the students who elected it, and to hear from students their precise opinions on the six issues discussed.

The six issues are, briefly:

1. Should students be allowed to ride in a car at night with a date?
2. Should the college have jurisdiction over a student who is away from the college for the week-end?

3. Should not there be a system of general permissions installed to replace the cumbersome week-to-week method now in use?

4. Should not there be a more fair system, perhaps by drawing numbers for student room-registration?

5. Should light-cuts be unlimited?

6. Should chapels be limited to one a week, convocations to three a month with the fourth Wednesday used for a student body meeting?

Individuals stressed in their discussion of night-riding, which is now a "shipping" offense, that they wished the privilege as a matter of convenience. For example, students spoke of wishing to be able to ride to dinner and to a movie in the evening.

The Madison College plan, or a form similar to it, was presented as a solution to the permission problem. Permissions for various situations and a calling list are to be included on one card, the parent checking the general permissions given. This plan would eliminate the inconveniences of much file work, telegraphing, and letter writing now in existence under the present system.

The majority seemed to feel that parental permission for a student to be away from school should cover that student's behavior.

Students gave as their reason for wanting unlimited light-cuts the many unexpected occurrences which make a need for later hours than the 11 p.m. limit. Tests are so widely distributed that it is difficult to assign specific cut nights and still meet the need.

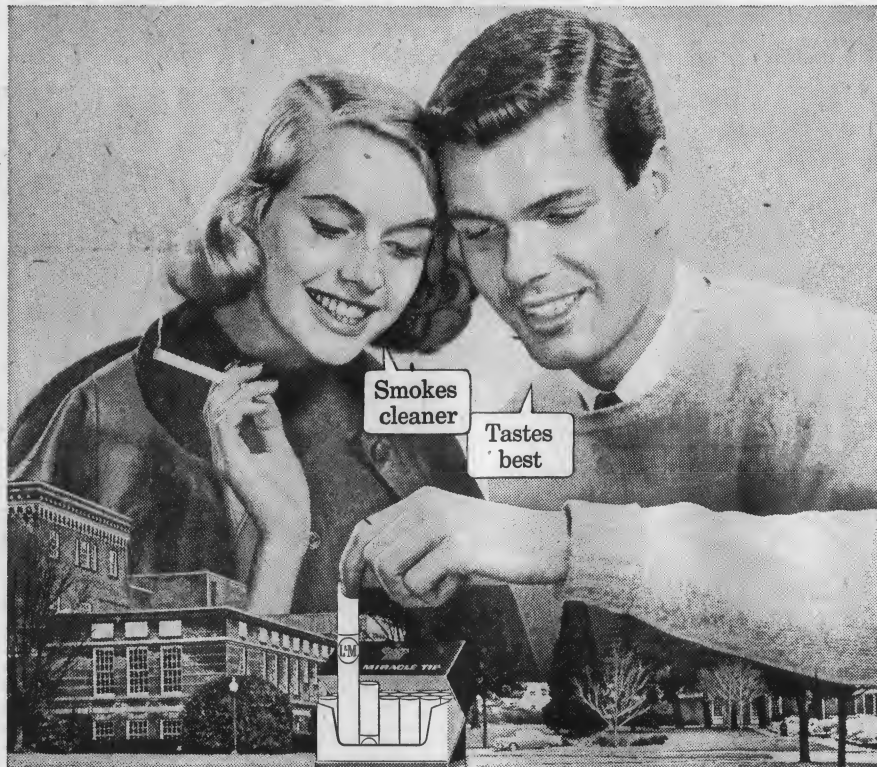

It was stated by the students that fewer chapels in the month would improve the quality and could adjust the inconvenience of the Friday chapel which is at the beginning of the week-end. Convocations seemed to be generally favored. The replacement of one by a student-body meeting per month was advocated in order to make the working of SG a more vital, democratic thing.

The room registration plan would allow prospective seniors to draw numbers which would extend from "1" to the number in the class. Persons wishing to live together in a suite would pool their numbers and the lowest number would have that rank order in the line for registration. Persons holding a number could sign for as little as a one-bed space or as much as a whole suite.

Issues passed by a majority vote at the meeting are to be written as amendments by SG, discussed and passed upon by Joint Council, submitted to Dr. Combes for approval, and as passed are to be put to a final vote by the student body.

Members of the administration, Board of Visitors, faculty, Joint Council, and the Bayonet committee attended the meeting as auditors.

MWC Inaugurates Chancellor Simpson

October 9, 1956

Dr. Grellet Collins Simpson will be inaugurated as chancellor of Mary Washington College during a three-day program this month featuring an exhibition of contemporary paintings opening at the Fine Arts Center Wednesday, October 17, a symposium and a concert by a Metropolitan Opera star, October 18, and an inaugural ceremony, fine arts, program, reception, and ball, October 19.

The symposium, "Woman, Catalyst of Modern Society," is to be held in George Washington Hall Thursday, October 18, at 2:00 p.m. . . . Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, will deliver the address at the inaugural Friday morning at 10:30.

Following luncheon, an arts program, consisting of an original one act play by the Mary Washington Palers, a recital by the Modern Dance Club and a performance by the Madrigal singers . . . is scheduled.

faculty had grown from the original of 15 to 35, the student body from 125 to over 500, the graduating classes from 23 to 133.

Changes Made

Two additional dormitories had been added (Virginia Hall and Betty Lewis) to the two original buildings (Willard Hall dormitory and the Monroe Hall administration building). A Lyceum course of lectures and concerts was instituted in the 1923-24 session, which continues as a feature of college life today.

After the death of Dr. Chandler in 1928, Dr. Morgan L. Combs was chosen to be the third President of the college.

MW College

The necessity for providing a balanced education which would also be a benefit to those not entering the teaching profession soon became a reality. Accordingly, in 1935, the Fredericksburg State Teacher College became Mary Washington College as a result of the constant drive to erase the limiting implications of teacher-training as the only avenue to college work.

The campus increased to seven residential halls, two classroom buildings, a separate dining hall, and a president's home.

MWC of UVa.

A long campaign to secure equal education for women resulted in a bill brought before the state legislature to incorporate Mary Washington College as a women's campus of the University of Virginia. It was successfully passed in February 1944. The school name changed for the third and last time to Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia as the college officially became the liberal arts campus for women at the University.

Thus in the 50 years of its existence, the College had had three changes of name; it shifted first from a teacher training institution to a broad liberal college, then to a more restrictive liberal arts college of the University of Virginia. Now its curriculum is gradually reflecting the broader training which women are demanding as our society becomes more and more complex.

BROMPTON BOOM

Historic Estate Purchased As College Plans Growth

October 15, 1945. Brompton, an historic, 174-acre estate immediately west of Fredericksburg's city limits, was acquired by the University of Virginia last week and is to be a part of the campus of Mary Washington College, according to reports released on Saturday. In addition to the land, the estate includes the beautiful mansion known as "Brompton" which overlooks Fredericksburg from Mary's Heights. The house, built in 1838, was the headquarters of General Longstreet during the Battle of Fredericksburg in December, 1862.

The Board of Visitors of the University of Virginia was in session in Charlottesville on Saturday to take special action on the purchase. The price was reported to be $71,000.

The following paragraphs are reprinted from Saturday's issue of the Fredericksburg Free Lance Star:

dent of Mary Washington College, expressed his delight today that the extensive property had been acquired by the college. He said the present 80 acres owned by the college had long since become inadequate for its needs and the new acreage, which is not far from the original college site, would make possible a considerable expansion of college activities.

"Among the improvements contemplated, Dr. Combs mentioned a full-sized golf course and lake to be constructed on the Brompton property.

"He also mentioned the possibility of erecting riding stables and developing riding trails through the woods and fields included in the property.

Dr. Combs said no definite plans had been made for the use of the Brompton dwelling. He said that it was probable that part of the Westmont acreage would be built up with homes for faculty members.

This photograph, taken in 1941, shows E. Lee Trinkle Library before the days of 10:00 P.M. closing and record loans.

Registration Day Brings Crowds of New Students

November 2, 1931 . . . Despite the depression, STC has reached the capacity limit in enrollment for 1931-32 session.

The Freshman class is largely responsible for this noticeable increase. STC has every reason to expect this year's Freshman class to surpass those of previous years, if for no other reason than the fact that it is cosmopolitan. Twelve states and two foreign countries are represented.

'Mikado' Planned For Homecoming

"The Mikado," Gilbert and Sullivan's lively operetta, will be presented in George Washington Auditorium on April 10 and 11 as part of the MWC Alumnae Homecoming festivities.

This production is a cooperative venture using the combined talents of the Drama, Music and Dance departments. Chosen for its charm and appeal for all, the operetta will be directed by Mr. Albert Klein, head of the Drama department, Dr. George Luntz, head of the Music department, and Mrs. Claudia Read, head of the Dance department.

The committee for direction has planned a shortened version of the musical play that is geared toward an all-female cast. Principals in the production are: The Mikado, Jennie Breeden; Katisha, Marilu Sanchez; Ko-Ko, Cathy Amouri; Pooh-Bah, Harriet Marshall; Nan-Ki-Po, Gay Hershney; Tish-Tush, Judith Brightman; Pitti-Sing, Judith Chrisman; Yum-Yum, Eileen Faulk; and Peep-Boh, Diane Mitchell. There will be a chorus of twenty-five additional performers garbed in brilliant, authentic Japanese costumes and exotic makeup.

Dr. C. W. Darden

Alumnae To Hear Darden at Dinner

Dr. Colgate W. Darden, Jr., president of the University of Virginia, will speak at the Homecoming banquet April 11th at six o'clock in the Rose Room of Seacoack Hall. Dr. Darden holds the bachelor of arts degree from the University of Virginia, and the master of arts and bachelor of laws degrees from Columbia University. Later he studied as a Carnegie scholar at Oxford University. During the first World War he served with the American Ambulance Corps, and later won his wings and a commission in the Marine Corps where he was severely injured in a plane crash while on combat duty.

In the Commonwealth of Virginia he has long been active in the fields of politics and education. After several years of law practice in Norfolk he was elected to the Virginia House of Delegates in 1929. Three years later he was elected to the United States House of Representatives. He served in Congress with only one two year break until he was elected Governor of Virginia in January 1942.

When he left the Governor's chair he became chancellor of the College of William and Mary, and Plans have been made for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of our college to take place at Homecoming the second weekend in April (the 11th-13th). Set this big event down in your datebook now, and plan to join all the gang on "The Hill" for a tremendous weekend of fun. This is the time to come sit down once again to the 'ole buzz session with your classmates about their "whys and wherefores has-beens and events-to-come!"

The combined dance, music, and drama departments have arranged to produce a shortened version of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado," adapted to an entire female cast. An art exhibit of the college's permanent collection is also planned for the weekend. On Saturday evening at six o'clock, Dr. Colgate W. Darden will speak at an informal banquet. This year only speakers, guests, and alumnae who wish to dress formally, will do so. On Saturday afternoon, class reunions will follow an Alumnae Luncheon. The reunions will begin at approximately two o'clock and the exact locations is printed in your weekend program of events.

Make plans now to take part in this gala celebration! You should be proud of your college—now the largest college for women in the state, and one of few state-supported liberal arts colleges for women in America. From a small group of young ladies in 1908 it has grown to a cosmopolitan group of over 1500. In the 586 members of the class of 1961 we find students from 28 states. Among these freshmen are fourteen daughters and one granddaughter of proud M.W.C. alumnae. Yes, Mary Washington is not just another college—it is a way of life which will remain alive always in the hearts of her alumnae. M.T.M.

chairman of the committee coordinating education activities into the Richmond Area University Center. Dr. Darden was elected third president of the University of Virginia on March 31, 1947.

During 1955 Dr. Darden served as a U. S. delegate to the United Nations. In 1957 President Eisenhower appointed him a member of the Fairless Committee to make a round-the-world tour to study our government's foreign economic aid program.

Homecoming '58—

Homecoming by any name is a gala affair! But this our Golden Anniversary year will see a Homecoming we will all remember. Many events have been planned for the weekend of April 11th and 12th when old graduates will be returning to the Mary Washington Campus.

Two of the many weekend highlights will be the annual Homecoming Banquet and a report on the Endowment Fund Campaign. The speaker for the banquet will be the President of the University of Virginia, Mr. Colgate W. Darden, Jr. A new feature in alumnae life, the primary purpose of the Endowment Fund Campaign is creating and maintaining a closer tie between the college and the alumnae. In this undertaking, we are pleased to have the full support of the Administration. The years spent at Mary Washington have greatly influenced our lives, for close fellowship among young women who share the same interests has grown richer through the years. As we seek to attain unity with college generations, past, present, and future, the Alumnae Endowment Fund will serve as the best way to reach our goal. Your gift, large or small, will help you to share in this new project. Often we are told to "give until it hurts." This time, let's give until we feel good—and we will!

Homecoming at Mary Washington means the renewal of old friendships, making new friends, and witnessing at first hand the growth of our alma mater. It also presents an opportunity to meet the students, our future alumnae, and to share with them our hopes for the future of our college.

Won't you plan now to return for Homecoming 1958? We shall be looking for YOU April 11th and 12th.

You and I have a great investment in Mary Washington College. Therefore, it behooves us to increase the value of that investment. Your gift to the 60th Anniversary Endowment Fund is a tangible evidence of your faith in your investment.

Giving Stressed

It is recommended that the campaign extend over a three year period—1958-61. If each alumna would contribute $30.00 per year it would be the equivalent of the income from a $1,000.00 endowment. The Committee and the Executive Board visualize a total annual income of $25,000.00 from alumnae, actually $75,000.00 contributed in the next three years.

If you cannot make a pledge and feel that you can contribute a dollar that is fine, too—for one of our wishes is to hear from every known alumna. "Mighty oaks from little acorns grow."

Purpose

The purpose of the campaign is to develop a finer relationship between the alumnae and the college and to present to each alumna an opportunity to contribute materially to the future development and scholastic and cultural attainment of Mary Washington College.

Its objectives are fourfold:
1. Increase of the present endowment fund.
2. Establishment of a campus

"Annual Alumnae Giving" Theme of AA Conference

by Marge Copes

Representing the Alumnae Association of Mary Washington College at the District III Conference of the American Alumni Council, which was held at the Williamsburg Lodge, Williamsburg, Virginia, on January 15, 16 and 17th, was an experience I shall not soon forget. My one regret is that more of our alumnae could not attend. It was a real inspiration.

During those three days, the whole scope of my thinking, relative to alumnae and their reason for being, changed entirely. What a rude awakening I had! The moment I arrived, I knew I was in deep water. These people were no ordinary alumni are workers, like me! They were professional alumni executives, representing about two hundred colleges and universities in eleven states. They KNEW what it was all about. And, oh, what they taught me!

New Responsibilities

Many of us think that the main purpose of our alumnae association is to keep alive the comradeships and memories of college days. This is important but not the sole reason for our being. In Williamsburg I came to the full, and rather staggering, realization that being an alumna is a challenge and an opportunity of the first magnitude. It is a great privilege, and this privilege, like all others, brings with it responsibility.

Alumni (ae) Associations are by definition, societies of educated men and women. Education, especially at this time, is of prime importance in determining the future of these United States. Therefore, the alumni (ae) of America, the EDUCATED ADULTS, have a grave responsibility. It is our duty, as alumnae of Mary Washington College, to perpetuate the good work of our Alma Mater; to build, with our hands if necessary, the facilities of better life for our college; to build with our voices and influence and the sheer impact of our numbers a greater Mary Washington College. It is our DUTY, as alumnae and as educated citizens of America, to support higher education, to continue alumnae education, to stimulate the thinking of citizens, to keep intellectual standards, to build day after day and year after year the surety that in the fellowship of educated adults, the alumni and alumnae of our great country, lies the eventuality of peace.

Purpose

The American Alumni Council, originally the Association of Alumni Secretaries and now covering all fields of the work, is 45 years old. It exists to serve the interest of organized alumni activities in support of education in the U. S. and Canada. Its purpose is "To mobilize behind education the strength of alumni (ae)".

The theme of this seventh annual meeting of the Third District of the A.A.C. was "ANNUAL GIVING AT ITS BEST." There is no formula for fund raising and only one rule—"keeping everlastingly at it, knowing that the same thing is happening everywhere." The national picture is not good. Our own picture is worse. Georgia Tech, with 41% of the alumni contributing, had the highest percentage of alumni participation, in state supported institutions in 1957. If we (the alumnae of M.W.C.) could match Ga. Tech, with 41% of our alumnae giving only the average gift (nationwide) of $10, our Fifth Anniversary Endowment Fund Campaign would realize the tidy sum of approximately $88,560. Just think of it! If we could just reach the national average level of 20%, we'd soon have $45,000.

New Goal

Our goal right now? GREATER PARTICIPATION, of course! Colleges and alumni (ae) associations have entered into a cooperative venture to see that education is provided with everything which will begin to meet our needs more fully now and help to secure the future for all our children everywhere. The years ahead are clearly marked as years of challenge. We who are the beneficiaries of the bounty of education must meet that challenge.

These are the things I wanted to say to each one of you. I have tried to give you the "Heart" of the conference, a bit of the inspiration. My official report, in detail, will be forwarded to members of the board and Chapter presidents.

Mrs. Phronie Marsh Monberg is listed in Who's Who of American Women, 1957-58 edition.

CLASS OF 1943

Bertha Dickinson Taylor lives at 6 Rutledge Road, Warwick, Virginia and has two children, the third expected.

A letter from Peggy Draper Eckenrode says she lives in Puerto Rico on an Air Force Base and has two daughters. She does substitute teaching.

Remember Lucille Dekle Briggs? She lives in Newport News and has two children.

Mrs. Jeal Woolwine Cliff lives at 115 Mistletoe Drive, Warwick, Va., and teaches at Newport News High School.

Mrs. William Jordan, formerly Jean Hill, lives in Warwick, Va., and has four children.

Mrs. Lawrence Munnikhuisen, Jr., formerly Laurette Emory, is in Warwick with their two children.

A letter from Barbara Beebe reports that she is active in many different organizations and clubs, has a gift shop, does professional decorating for weddings, parties and showers, has a large stamp collection and miniature shoe collection, and along with all this, she works in an insurance agency and handles a stock brokers job!

CLASS OF '44

First off, a big round of applause to Hazel Strong Morris for her work as class agent these past years. Believe that her address remains 26 E. Main Street, Newark, Delaware.

I had a nice visit with Virginia Armstrong Longerbeam at Midland, Va. last summer and she has more irons in the fire than any ten people I know. She is organizer for all the functions at the Midland Methodist Church, runs the Armstrong General Store and Postoffice (with the aid of her husband Gene and her parents, of course), and substitutes in the local schools in every class from library to football. She also manages to keep up with a number of girls from our class and if she would just send their names and up-to-date addresses to me we might have more news for the next edition. (gentle hint, Ginny).

Because I was in Virginia for seven weeks last summer, I missed seeing Marjorie Hudson Denny and her daughter, Monica. They were on their way to Japan to visit Rex for two months. Her Christmas card stated that she and Monica accomplished the visit and are now living at 210A South Kalaheo Ave., Kailua, Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, until Rex's tour of duty is completed this June.

Jane Slingman Mix writes that she leads a hectic life at 1550 Ruskin Road, Dayton, 6, Ohio. She and Charlie have three lovely children. Deb celebrated her eighth birthday in December and there are sons, Brad and Greg. Charlie works for Standard Register Company and handles real estate on the side.

Ruth Ludtke Scarborough, 1630 Thetford Road, Towson 4, Md., was so disappointed to find no news of our class in the fall alumnae supplement of The Bulletin that she wrote me some about herself and welcome news it is, too. She has two boys now. The elder is four years old and a "real Indian from head to toe", while the second arrived only last October, but just give him time! Ruth, like the rest of us would love some news of our class but we can't print it if you don't send it!

Henry Hoylman Parsons, 7-C Davidson Park, Lexington, Va., is happily keeping house for Frank. She plans a trip to Fredericksburg soon with a friend whose daughter is attending our Alma Mater.

From far off in the southern-most part of British Guiana comes word of Frances Tracy. She is at the Ganashan Mission Station in the land of the Waiwai Indians and as a member of the staff is writing primers and teaching the Indians to read and write in their own language. Fran wrote soon after her arrival last February, "Food and weather have not been as dastly as I had expected, both being very pleasant. There were those unusual times when we at scrambled turtle eggs, curried antelope and fried ants. I liked the ants best of all, and really enjoyed them. Honest," I did." A more recent note from Fran, dated November, 1957 and sent out in mimeographed form from the Un-evangelized Fields Mission, Box 306, Bala-Cnwyd, Pa., tells of her experiences as the missionary work progresses among the Indians, who three years ago were in dark heathenism. Fran asks that we pray that the Waiwais and other Indians in nearby northern Brazil may have hearts prepared by the Lord so that they may soon come to know Christ as their Savior. She expects soon to tackle the language of the Waica Indians so that she can prepare primers for them, too. Her field address is Lethem, Rupununi, British Guiana, S. A.

Address corrections recently received include: Lois Webber Jackson, (Mrs. R. W.), 20 Hillcrest Ave., Longmeadow, Mass.; Elsie Stone Palmore, (Mrs. Carlyle), 2704 Kensington Ave., Richmond, Va.; Theodore Nickerson (Mrs. Sherman, Jr.), Pfeiffer College, Misenheimer, N. C. Hope to have some news from these girls for next time.

I have retired from teaching at local junior high school and am busy at home with Mary Lou, 5, Vincent, 3, and John Huyett, 3 months. Had my first trip to Virginia in seven years last summer and did manage an all-to-short visit to the campus. It was thrilling to see the many improvements in the facilities and the lovely new buildings. Despite the sparkling surroundings, it seemed like old times when I walked into the College Shoppe and greeted Mr. and Mrs. Honaker. Also on hand although it was late in July, were Dr. Quenzel at the library and Mr. Guenther, registrar.

San Luis Obispo is half-way between San Francisco and Los Angeles (about 220 miles either way) and 10 miles from the coast. Drop in to see the Pillows when you are travelling the California coast. We have mail service, too, and any member of the class of '44 who reads this and finds no up-to-date mention of herself or friends, is cordially invited to send me some news.

CLASS OF '46

Ruth Phipps Metzel and her family spent Christmas with some of the natives in the Belgian Congo. They stayed with one of the Elders in one of their churches there. Ruth has a daughter and a son.

Doris Welch Burton reports that her husband joined Westinghouse Atomic Division (Pittsburgh) in July and they have been busy getting used to their new home and environment.

Dorothy Klencz Scott and her husband are proud of their adopted son, Jeffrey, who was born in May, 1957, and whom they have had since he was two months old. Elizabeth Stallings Sharpe reported on her Christmas card that she had a wonderful three-weeks' tour of the continent. She lives in London where her service husband is stationed.

Mary Anna Gormly is now Assistant Chief Hostess for Capital Airlines.

Dorothy Lyons Miller, with husband and daughter, now lives in Colonial Heights, Virginia. Her husband has been transferred to Richmond.

Dorothy Klencz Scott sent a very interesting article "Hildy Parks: Actress, Wife, Mother, Raises Tulips, Reads a Book Daily," which was published in the NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE on November 10, 1957. Hildy is the wife of Alexander H. Cohen, the producer, and the mother of Gerry, born in April, 1957. They live in Fairfield County, Connecticut, and at the time the article was written she was playing in "The Tupples of Love" at the Royale Theatre. (If anyone is interested in reading the article, I'll be glad to pass it on.)

Betty Woodward Face and her husband (plus their recent daughter) are now living in Sandersville, Ga., having moved there recently from Baltimore, Md. Betty's husband is a geologist and is connected with a clay mining company. Sister Roberta (Mrs. T. F. Marshall, Jr.) lives in Urbana, Va., and has a daughter and a son.

Mary Elizabeth Robertson lives in Roanoke where she works for the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. Nancy Robertson Glaise is now living at the Dover Air Force Base in Delaware where her air force husband is assigned as a chaplain. They have three children—2 boys and a girl.

Naomi Williams Houser and her husband, Thomas, both teach in Danville, Va. She's also kept busy with two daughters.

Betty Atkins Fowers (St. Paul, N. C.) has recently acquired an elementary teacher's certificate, after completing the necessary courses, and is teaching sixth grade. She originally had a secondary teacher's certificate.

In a recent letter from Mary Chilton Harris, she brought me up-to-date on some members of the class of '46 who "hail" from her area. Mary lives in Culpeper and has three children and bookkeeping she says that she really keeps busy. Her sister-in-law, Catherine Palmer Chilton (Jefferson, Va.), also has three children. Edna Harris Cockran lives in Winston-Salem, N. C. and has one son. Audrey Huffman Payne has three children in Remington, Va. Eleanor Covington Wells now resides in Alexandria, Va. with her husband and 2 children, while Pauline Inskeep Eggborn and her three children live in Rixeyville, Va.

I'll be glad to furnish any addresses of the class of '46 (that I have in my files) that any of you would like to have for your Christmas card list. Please note that my address is now "Star Route, Box 67, Upper Marlboro, Md." I have NOT moved—just a consolidation of post offices.

Letters of Greeting Sent To All MW Alumnae

March 14, 1958

To The Alumnae:

I sincerely trust that all of the alumnae of Mary Washington College will have a very special desire to return for the Homecoming on April 12, 1958, the year of the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the College. I know that many of you for various reasons will not be able to be here, but all of you in some way can make the occasion more significant, both for yourselves and the College, by the remembrance of things past as well as the hope for things to come.

The accomplishments of your College in the last 50 years have been truly remarkable. We have one of the most beautiful locations for a college that I have ever seen, and everybody pays tribute to those who have over the years worked and dreamed to make the College and its campus as impressive as it is. The trees, the buildings, but chiefly the way of life of the students give to the College the tone and atmosphere of a place of learning.

I should like to suggest that we think of this 50th birthday as a time of "coming of age." Mary Washington College must accept the responsibilities that come with its 50 years of experience—and I think all of us do. In other words, we must think seriously of what Mary Washington as a college ought to symbolize. This fuller maturity means somewhat the same for a college as it does for a person—greater responsibility, greater leadership in the higher education of women, and greater civic and social awareness of the impact of our graduates upon the total life of the communities in which they live.

A genuine welcome at the College awaits all homecoming alumnae, especially on April 12, 1958, but also at any other time that any of you may wish to return for a visit.

Sincerely,

Grellet C. Simpson
Chancellor

February 24, 1958

To the Alumnae of Mary Washington College:

When you were students here, Mary Washington College meant many different things to you: the intellectual stimulus of lectures and classroom discussions, concerts and plays in George Washington and duPont, student body and class meetings, the excitement of formal dances in the Hall of Mirrors and the Gothic Room, the treks to Seacock in bright morning sunshine and in early winter twilight, dormitory-room discussions, clubs, benefits, quizzes, week-ends—the myriad activities that go to make up college life.

When you return as alumnae, you will have an opportunity to greet again many of those who shared these experiences with you (I'll never forget that first year we spent in Willard, .). You will follow well-known walkways and see again the vistas you remember so well. There will be many familiar faces among the faculty and staff, people who are interested in you and in what you are doing. And, most of all, you will have an opportunity to share in planning the future development of your college through its alumnae activities.

And so, we hope you will return for Homecoming, not only for what the College means to you but for what you mean to the College. A warm welcome awaits you.

Sincerely,

Edward Alvey, Jr., Dean

Dear Mary Washington Alumnae,

We look forward to your return to the campus in April, believing that you will be pleased with what your College is doing, and that you will be eager to learn of plans for the future. Mary Washington has left her seal upon you and you in turn have helped to shape the College. You can also have a share in making the second half of "the college century" more significant than the first.

Some years ago a fine magazine in this country advertised itself as being "the enemy of the smooth, expressionless face." That ought to be true of a fine college—that its students and graduates will have faces that give evidence of worthwhile endeavor and accomplishment—disciplined thought, sympathetic feeling, enjoyment of life, and friendliness of spirit. We hope you will find all this, and more, now and in the years ahead.

Welcome to your Alma Mater!

Sincerely yours,

Margaret Hargrove
Dean of Students

Dear Alumnae:

As you make plans to attend the Association Homecoming, I want to extend to you our warmest welcome to the campus. It is always a pleasure to have you with us on campus.

The Alumnae is an extremely important phase of the college, and no one appreciates that more than does the administration of the college. I hope your visit will be enjoyable and that you will feel free and encouraged to return to visit whenever the opportunity affords itself. Please understand that we need your help and, likewise, if at any time the college can be of assistance to you, we will be more than happy to do so.

I sincerely hope that everyone of you will make a special effort to be with us on this special occasion.

Cordially yours,

Edgar E. Woodward
Bursar

Dear Alumnae:

Homecoming is always a happy time for us here on the Hill. This year we are particularly pleased to welcome you as we share together the observance of Mary Washington's fiftieth anniversary. We, the present student body, feel deeply indebted to you the former students for everything you have done to help establish our Alma Mater as an outstanding women's college. Your faithful interest in our progress is greatly appreciated.

The Student Government Association is very anxious to do all it can to strengthen the bond between the alumnae and the students. It is through such cooperation that we can further our common goal—continued progress for Mary Washington.

Again, we welcome you!

Evelyn H. Breeden
SGA President 1957-1958
Carol Pridgen
SGA President-elect.

Thanks

MIAMI

Helen Reynolds Vivian, 1953, (retiring president), and her husband, Tom, entertained the Miami Chapter December 27, at "open house" at their lovely home in Miami Shores. The group was entertained last year by this couple.

Former Mary Washington girls attending (with their husbands) were: Leon Hall Howard, 1949 (new president of the chapter); Kay Toelae Corcoran, 1952 (now of Washington, D. C.); Ann Lovelace Trees, 1954; Jackie McConnell Berry, 1949 (first president); Lina Jennings Bertok, 1943; Barbara Pritchard Jones, 1953 (home from Washington for holidays).

This chapter is very active and again is proud to send a representative to Homecoming in April — Beverly Bently Smith, 1955, Director.

New officers as of February 1, 1958: Miami, Florida Chapter: President Mrs. P. E. Howard (Leona Hall), 1276 NE 147 St., Miami; Vice President Mrs. Cliff Trees (Ann Lovelace), 101 Camilo Avenue, Coral Gables; Secretary Mrs. Alexander G. Bertok (Lina Jennings), 11500 W. Biscayne Canal Road, Miami; Treasurer Mrs. S. L. Camp (Burr Anderson), 702 NE 95 Street, Miami Shores; Historian Mrs. R. J. Berry (Jackie McConnell), 1249 SW 23 Street, Miami; Director Mrs. J. C. Smith (Beverly Bently), 9326 Martinique Drive, Cutler Ridge, Miami; Endowment Mrs. Tom Vivian (Helen Reynolds), 11 NW 97 Street, Miami Shores.

PENINSULA CHAPTER

Our chapter varies the eight meetings of the year with some luncheon and some dinner meetings on different days of the week.

Our first dinner meeting was in December when we had a Christmas story given. Edna Mae Daniel Sheaks (1942) led the group in the singing of Christmas carols.

The January meetings was a luncheon meeting. Mrs. Margaret Newsome Israel gave a very interesting talk on Yorktown fossils.

The February luncheon was a very special meeting because we had Marge Lodge Copes as the guest speaker. Other guests were from the Richmond Chapter; Jane Hatcher Major, President and Margery Cox, Vice President.

We are making big plans for a card party on February 21. This is a ways and means project and also a social event when our husbands and boy friends will be our guests.

Irene Lundy Brown (1940) is Area Chairman for the Endowment Fund.

Eleven Classes Plan Reunions

Homecoming is planned for the second weekend in April (11-13) with the following classes scheduled for reunions: 1918 (ruby), 1923, 1928, 1933 (silver), 1938, 1943, 1948, 1953, 1955, 1956, and 1957. - It is extremely important that your reservation be in the Alumnae Office no later than April 1. Otherwise, no room can be reserved. It is of primary importance that A.L.L. returning alumnae register in Lounge A, Ann Carter Lee Hall immediately upon arriving on campus. This is necessary so that any phone calls or messages may be delivered to you within a minimum period of time.

Registration fee, set up by the Alumnae Association to defray expenses, is $5.00. This covers the entire weekend, and is a flat fee for everyone attending. Dues should be paid to attend Homecoming; however, they can be paid at the time of registration.

Make your plans now to be on "The Hill" April 11-13. AND REMEMBER THE RESERVATION DEADLINE . . . APRIL 1!

Peggy Hopkins Johnson is teaching in Fredericksburg.

Sue Rosen Wolfe has two boys and a girl.

Visited Beck Spitzer Harvill and her family of red-heads during the Christmas holidays. Her little girls, Anne, Kim and Lindsay, are just adorable. Becky talks just as fast as ever—we had a real talkathon!

And since, much as I'd like to, I can't answer all your cards and letters, I'll fill a few lines with my own status quo. Mike is a Methods Engineer at the Dixie Cup Company in Easton, and is one course of his thesis away from a Master's at Lehigh in Industrial Engineering. About two years ago we bought a building near the center of Bethlehem, and live in one of the two apartments on the second floor, have a florist and detective agency on the first floor. Our chubby, sweet little boy, Jay, is almost seven months old now and is busy gnawing toward his first teeth. We also have a neurotic Beagle whose troubles range from claustrophobia to obsessive-compulsive tendencies! We can't decide whether to donate him to a psych lab or send him along on the next trip to outer space!

Thanks to all the old faithfuls and guilty consciences who answered the call for news. And to those who have not written, we're going to be a big blank in the next issue unless you come through; Now is the time to start making plans for the Alumnae Weekend in April. Quite a few are already planning to go. See you there?

Nell M. Savopoulos,
Agent, Class of 1953.

Mrs. Charles Lake Bushnell, former Dean of Women, has retired and is living at 200 12th Avenue, North, St. Petersburg, Florida. She always enjoys hearing from "her girls."

CLASS OF 1955
Plan now to return for homecoming in April and heed the deadline for reservations. Insufficient interest necessitated the discontinuance of plans for undertaking a class project as proposed last spring. It is my hope that you will support the Association's Endowment Fund Campaign presently underway. Now for news of friends.
